

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ILLINOIS
EASTERN DIVISION

Gordon Wayne Watts

Plaintiff,

vs.

CIRCUIT COURT OF COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS, et al.,

Defendants.

Case No.: 1:19-cv-03473

Judge Robert M. Dow, Jr.
Magistrate Judge Susan E. Cox

Rule 7 Motion to Waive PACER fees, concurrent with Motion to expedite summons, and issue Summary Judgment and/or Show Cause order

This matter comes to be heard on the motion of plaintiff for waiver of his PACER.gov research fees (Exhibit-“U”), pursuant to Fed.R.Civ.P. 7(b), concurrent with a motion to expedite service of summons (Exhibit-“V”) upon defendants, and a motion for either summary judgment (pursuant to Local Rule 56.1) and/or an order requiring defendants to show cause why the court should not issue summary judgment and rule in favour of plaintiff regarding the clear limits on judicial immunity for judges who violate Federal Civil Rights (as demonstrated by Exhibit-“W”).

1. BACKGROUND

Plaintiff originally brought this action in his local federal court [Docs. 1 and 13], to address egregious (and well-documented) violations of Federal Civil Rights laws, which, if left unchecked, could (theoretically) place lives in danger, due to the unique nature of intervention case law—which could, theoretically, force the reopening of one case, in which plaintiff has unrepresented interests, thereby getting back a stolen house from one elderly victim who was, resultantly, made homeless, thus placing health, life, limb, and property in jeopardy.

2. PACER FEES

The court has rightly found plaintiff indigent within the meaning of Federal Law. (And, due at least in part to his having to continue to take time off from actively work—so he can have time to research and prosecute this case—plaintiff’s financial situation is no better, and possibly worse, than before.) While the PACER.gov research fees (Exhibit-“U”) incurred when prosecuting this case are not automatically-waived, the court can, nonetheless waive them, and, at only seventy-dollars ($70.50) and fifty-cents, is reasonable: Much less than most attorneys would charge—excepting the rare Pro Bono attorney, which this court could, theoretically, appoint to represent plaintiff—and investigate whether other potential “class plaintiffs” exist—pursuant to the outstanding motion for appointment of counsel (Doc. 5). While plaintiff reminds the court of the possibility of granting all other outstanding motions on dockets, plaintiff explicitly moves the court to enter an order directing PACER.gov to waive his outstanding fees.

3. SUMMONS

Plaintiff vividly remembers when both the Tampa Division court and this court entered orders that were clearly erroneous, in both instances, the court took responsibility for its (human) errors: The Tampa court (Doc.14) admitted it had been reprimanded by the Eleventh Circuit regarding overzealous & erroneous application of Rooker-Feldman, and withdrew that portion of its opinion. This court, likewise, withdrew its mandate of dismissal with prejudice, and rightly took my motion for reconsideration (Doc.20) under advisement (Doc.22). Ironically, Judge Diane M. Shelley, one of the defendants in this case, in her 12/07/2017 ORDER, withdrew & vacated her “dismissed with prejudice” order dated July 10, 2017 (Point “C” of her order), which I include here to illustrate that even guilty defendants such as these have honour & integrity to admit human error. This is relevant to the proposed summons (Exhibit-“V”) because this court may feel pressured to rule in favour of the defendants, due to their status as judges, but having taken careful note of the fact that this court has, thus far, refused to throw the case out on its head, it can logically be inferred that this court has earned the title “Honourable” for its judges, and can be depended upon to carefully review the case on its merits.

That being the case, plaintiff explicitly moves this court to expedite issuance of summons, and, noting that this (Sine Qua Non necessary) act has not been done already, plaintiff infers that, maybe, the court is overwhelmed with caseload, and thus plaintiff has filled out all ten (10) proposed summons, and moves the court to issue them at this time. (Exhibit-“V”)

4. Civil Rights Violations addressed by Summary Judgment, needs to Show Cause

While plaintiff has an open line of communication with the court (this motion, here), it is only logical to bring up the issue of summary judgment and show cause versus civil rights violations. Pursuant to Local Rule 56.1, plaintiff moves this court to (once it has issued summons and taken personal jurisdiction of the ten defendants) to either issue summary judgment, or, if it has concerns and wants answers, to issue a show cause order to the defendants. Summary Judgment is not rocket science: The facts are not in dispute (mainly because the paper trail is clear), and these judges are no different than Judge Gladys Pulliam, who, because she issued orders that violated Civil Rights, not only felt the “Long Arm of John Law” correct her mistakes [Pulliam v. Allen, 466 US 522, at 528 (1984)], but this judge also had to pay attorneys' fees—which proved that judicial immunity, while “big” is not all-encompassing, and did not protect this judge when she issued an unconstitutional order. (See Doc.20 of Plaintiff, on docket.)

5. CONCLUSION

Summary judgment against the defendants (via appropriate injunctive & declaratory relief —with appropriately lode-star-adjusted attorneys fees) would not violate their Due Process rights (because they could, easily, ask for reconsideration and/or appeal it—much more-easily than myself, I might add). And, I add, it would quickly reduce the headache-factor upon this court which, we all know, has a heavy case-load. However, relevant moral standards should also apply to these judges and justices: While their actions give this court (and all courts) a bad name, nonetheless, there may be some use to a show cause order, with the understanding that they are guilty, but must be given a fair day in court—on the rare (but non-zero) chance that something else needs to be uncovered. In the meantime, Due Process also applies to plaintiff, Watts, and he moves this court to expedite service of summons, waive PACER.gov fees, and methodically seek an attorney who is willing to represent Plaintiff Watts. The key point here is that Plaintiff (as the court has rightly pointed out) can not represent other potential class-plaintiffs. However, if this court grants plaintiff's prior motion (Doc.5), his motion for appointment of counsel, I see nothing that would prevent such from looking into representing other potential class plaintiffs, which are mentioned by name in Doc.8 on docket of this case—and/or asking them itself (if this court has jurisdiction to directly contact said interested parties—that I do not know).

Respectfully submitted, /s/ Mr. Gordon Wayne Watts

Certificate of Service

I, GordonWayne Watts, hereby certify that I am, now, filing a copy of this motion (“Rule 7 Motion to Waive PACER fees, concurrent with Motion to expedite summons, and issue Summary Judgment and/or Show Cause order”) with the clerk of the Circuit Court, Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, via CM/ECF, this 13th day of AUGUST, 2019, but on no one else, as Judge Dow's order of 5/31/2019 found me In Forma Pauperis. I shall attempt to mail a printed “courtesy copy” to Judge's Chamber, if able, and—if able—also notice up a motion for a phone hearing. HOWEVER, if I file a motion for reconsideration for their illegal order (Exhibit-“W”) in the court of the defendants to this case, I may (but do not guarantee) include some mention and/or actual exhibits to demonstrate what I am filing here, today, in this court. I may also, in like manner (but do not guarantee), notify the other defendants who are judges in the state's circuit court.

Respectfully submitted,

Date: Tuesday, 13 August 2019 /s/ Mr. Gordon Wayne Watts
