THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

December 10, 2025

Dear Mr. Watts,

Thank you for sharing your views on our Nation's healthcare system.

One of my Administration's top priorities is ensuring that every American has access to healthcare that is reliable, affordable, and fair. For this reason, we are working every day to enforce price transparency, lower prescription drug costs, strengthen programs like Medicare and Medicaid, and make America healthy again for every citizen.

As President, I have taken action to deliver long-overdue price transparency to patients by requiring hospitals and insurers to disclose actual prices—not estimates—for medical services and prescription drugs. When Americans know what they are paying for, they can make informed decisions, avoid surprise bills, and take control of their care. I also proudly signed an Executive Order delivering most-favored-nation prescription drug pricing to American patients, ensuring our citizens pay a fair price for their medications. For seniors, parents, and families across America, this means real savings and better access to the treatments they need.

Through the passage of the historic One Big Beautiful Bill, my Administration is strengthening federal health programs like Medicare and Medicaid by ending widespread waste, fraud, and abuse. We are cracking down on improper payments, including those made to deceased individuals and illegal aliens fraudulently enrolled—saving taxpayers billions of dollars while making care more efficient and accessible to our most vulnerable citizens.

Under my leadership, we are also tackling the root causes of America's physical and mental health crises by halting the rise in childhood chronic disease, improving preventative care, and promoting healthier outcomes across generations. To further protect our Nation's health, we are removing harmful chemicals from our food supply, accelerating breakthroughs in genetic medicine, expanding access to telehealth, and giving terminally ill patients the freedom to try experimental treatments that could save their lives.

We are delivering a healthcare system that puts patients first, restores trust, and truly serves the American people. Together, we will make America healthy again.

Sincerely,
